

MISSOURIAN

Open the eyes of the community to local art.

Have something from Columbia's arts and culture scene that you'd like to share with the rest of the community? Become a part of ArtTalk.

The Columbia Missourian is launching a new project to help celebrate and unite Columbia's art scene. The feature is called ArtTalk, and it's a space where people from the arts community are invited to tell us what's cooking around town. We'll publish your submissions on our website and sometimes also in our print edition.

The rules? There aren't many. Describe works of art, places, events, workshops, exhibits or anything else arts-related. The only restriction is that you can't share your own work.

Submissions can include, but aren't limited to:

- | | |
|-----------------------|---|
| — Visual art | — Dance |
| — School art projects | — Music |
| — Street art | — Poetry/writing |
| — Jewelry | — Events (like fairs, openings, shows, etc.) |
| — Artist profiles | — Anything else you think people might find interesting |

To submit, fill out a form at ColumbiaMissourian.com/ArtTalk

Questions? Let us know. Thanks for considering the invitation, and we look forward to working with you.
